

Citi Innovation Centre Tel Aviv - Thank-you

Dear All,

My initial involvement in this project started in October 2011 at which time the location was being sought. 12 months ago in February 2012 we identified Atidim as the location of choice and in May 2012 the PEP was approved to go ahead with the scheme. The effort that has gone into delivering this project and overcoming the various obstacles and challenges that arose in the 9 months since PEP approval has been phenomenal and I thank-you all for the part that you have played to make this project a success.

The Innovation Centre now has a truly state-of-the-art home which embraces modern sustainable design principles and I am sure that based on their initial feedback they will be very happy and successful there for many years to come.

Whilst we still have some final touches to complete and we look towards a potential platinum LEED rating for the project I will still be conducting the project calls but I would like to put on record now, what a pleasure it has been to work with you all on this project.

Thanks again.

Regards
Dominic
